

WHO WOULD BENEFIT FROM THE CALM BY DESIGN™ COLLECTION

Anyone seeking relief from stress that interferes with one's state of calm and productivity including, but not limited to the following individuals:

- Children with autism or anxiety
- Teens receiving counseling
- Residents of rehabilitation facilities
- Patients with mental illness
- Students overwhelmed by excessive sensory stimuli
- Office workers desiring to de-stress quickly
- Teachers assisting students to concentrate more
- Parents creating a comforting home environment

The Calm by Design Collection™ (CDC) features all the tools our customers may need, no matter at school, in an office, at home, or in a rehabilitation center, to instill calm, improve attention to tasks, minimize defensive behaviors, or enhance learning potential. The items address the needs of individuals of all ages, whether satisfying the sensory needs of a child, providing an avenue of coping for an anxious teenager, or reducing the behaviors brought on by stressed out adults. Utilization of the items in the CDC assist in creating calm by first exploring the tools, selecting the preferred item for de-stressing, then learning how best to use the identified optimal tool.
